

A Wallace Fountain in Heart of Jerusalem

14 Ben Yehuda Street
Jerusalem, ISRAEL

In the heart of Jerusalem on one of its most popular pedestrian streets is a raised platform with a Wallace Fountain. This fountain was thought to be offered by Frenchman Mr. Prosper AMOUYAL and his family to the city of Jerusalem in tribute to its Mayor Uri LUPOLIANSKI and the residents of the city. Lupolianski served as mayor from 2003 to 2008, therefore the fountain must have been installed after 2003. Lupolianski was caught up in a bribery scandal and convicted of corruption in 2014 even though all the bribery money was channeled to Yad Sarah, a charity he founded in 1976 to aid the elderly, poor and disabled.

If anyone has additional information about the history or origin of this fountain, please share it by contacting us at admin@wallacefountains.org.

Source: Department of International Relations, City of Paris and Wikipedia.